DETAILED ACTION

In response to papers filed 06-10-03, note the following. The office Action mailed 02-25-03 inadvertently included an impartial 35 USC 102 rejection (see the incomplete body of such rejection, top of page 2 of the Office Action). The new rejection was the new rejection of claims 1-13 of King in view of Woy (see bottom of page 2 of the Office action). Since the inclusion of the impartial 102 rejection caused confusion, the following non-final rejection of the claims is taken. Any inconvenience is regretted. It is further noted that the examiner has no record of a request of a telephone conference on May 7, 2003 and if such a request was made, a conference would be granted as it is the practice of the examiner to grant such a request. In this regard, any inconvenience is again regretted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over King in view of Woy. The patent to King teaches structure substantially as claimed including an elevated desk with a work surface (A), storage surface(b), base (B2), peripheral wall (B1).face and peripheral wall the only difference being that the structures are not transparent. However, the use of transparent structure to provide a display purpose is a matter of privacy desired. Further, the patent to Woy teaches the use of providing transparent structural surface to provide a display. It would have been obvious and well within the level of one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the structure of King to include transparent surfaces, as taught by Woy and within the level of ordinary skill in the art, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Claims 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over King in view of Woy as applied to the claims above, and further in view of Lamm. The patent to King in view of Woy teaches structure substantially as claimed including support structure the only difference being that the support does not include three legs. However, the patent to Lamm teaches the use of providing a particular number of supports to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the structure of King to include three supporting structure, as taught by Lamm since such structures are conventional alternative supporting structure used in the same intended purpose, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
